Second Term, 2023-24
(Version: 2024-01-01)

Course Code: LING 6980 Title in English: Research Methodology Title in Chinese: 研究方法
Course Description: This course will offer both theoretical and practical foundations for linguistics research. In this course, basic concepts, methods, and problems in linguistics research are examined, including steps in the research process, literature review, developing research questions, research design and techniques, data collection and analysis, and interpreting findings. Students will be exposed to some common research approaches commonly used in linguistic research, e.g. statistical data analysis, grammaticality judgment tasks, corpus-based methods, etc. In addition, the course will also discuss issues related to research ethics and effective communication of research ideas and findings in academic presentations and publications, e.g. research question formulation, abstract writing, proposal writing, etc.

Course Syllabus

Topic	Contents/fundamental concepts
1. Concepts of research	- process of research, research questions, scientific method, hypothesis testing
2. Research methods	- quantitative / statistical approach, grammaticality judgment tasks, corpus-based methods
3. Statistical analysis	- descriptive statistics, inferential statistics and regression analysis - use of statistical software
4. Research ethics	- informed consent, human subject research ethics application
5. Dissemination of findings	- abstract writing, conference presentation and academic publication

Learning outcomes

Upon successfully completing the subject, students should be able to: - Use relevant resources/databases to look up information and references - Assess research hypotheses and methods in the field of linguistics - Understand the research methods of corpus-based, quantitative and qualitative approaches - Understand research ethics and undertake measures to uphold it - Communicate research ideas/findings effectively in academic conferences and publications

Feedback for evaluation

Students’ views and comments are most welcome. Two course evaluations (mid-term and term-end) will be conducted. We appreciate feedback and suggestions by emails, office hour discussion, or appointment meetings.

Grade Descriptors

Grade	Overall Course
A	Outstanding performance on all learning outcomes.
A-	Generally outstanding performance on all (or almost all) learning outcomes.
B	Substantial performance on all learning outcomes, or high performance on some learning outcomes which compensates for less satisfactory performance on others, resulting in overall substantial performance.
C	Satisfactory performance on the majority of learning outcomes, possibly with a few weaknesses.
D	Barely satisfactory performance on a number of learning outcomes.
F	Unsatisfactory performance on a number of learning outcomes, or failure to meet specified assessment requirements.

Course schedule

Class	Date	Topic	Presentation Paper	Presenter
1	Jan 8	Linguistics Research / Research Questions
2	Jan 15	Statistics (1) – Descriptive Statistics & Hypothesis Testing
3	Jan 22	Statistics (2) – Inferential Analysis I
4	Jan 29	Statistics (3) – Inferential Analysis II & Correlation
5	Feb 5	Statistics (4) – Regression & Power Analysis

Announcements will be posted on the course Blackboard website, and be emailed to students. Course materials will also be posted on the Blackboard website. It is important for you to MAKE SURE that the email address registered on Blackboard is CORRECT and you will check the email account regularly.

Academic honesty and plagiarism

Attention is drawn to University policy and regulations on honesty in academic work, and to the disciplinary guidelines and procedures applicable to breaches of such policy and regulations. Details may be found at <http://www.cuhk.edu.hk/policy/academichonesty/>.

With each assignment, students will be required to submit a signed declaration that they are aware of these policies, regulations, guidelines and procedures.

- In the case of group projects, all members of the group should be asked to sign the declaration, each of whom is responsible and liable to disciplinary actions, irrespective of whether he/she has signed the declaration and whether he/she has contributed, directly or indirectly, to the problematic contents.
- For assignments in the form of a computer-generated document that is principally text-based and submitted via VeriGuide, the statement, in the form of a receipt, will be issued by the system upon students' uploading of the soft copy of the assignment.
- Students are fully aware that their work may be investigated by AI content detection software to determine originality.
- Students are fully aware of the AI approach(es) adopted in the course. In the case where some AI tools are allowed, students have made proper acknowledgment and citations as suggested by the course teacher.

Assignments without a properly signed declaration will not be graded by teachers.

Only the final version of the assignment should be submitted via VeriGuide.

The submission of a piece of work, or a part of a piece of work, for more than one purpose (e.g. to satisfy the requirements in two different courses) without declaration to this effect shall be regarded as having committed undeclared multiple submissions. It is common and acceptable to reuse a turn of phrase or a sentence or two from one's own work; but wholesale reuse is problematic. In any case, agreement from the course teacher(s) concerned should be obtained prior to the submission of the piece of work.

The copyright of the teaching materials, including lecture notes, assignments and examination questions, etc., produced by staff members/ teachers of The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) belongs to CUHK. Students may download the teaching materials produced by the staff members/ teachers from the Learning Management Systems, e.g. Blackboard, adopted by CUHK for their own educational use, but shall not distribute/ share/ copy the materials to a third-party without seeking prior permission from the staff members/ teachers concerned.

Use of Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) Tools in Teaching, Learning and Assessment

For assignments and assessment tasks that count towards the final course grades, students are not allowed to submit work which is produced with the collaboration of or supported by the use of any generative AI tools (e.g. ChatGPT, Google Bard, etc.), unless otherwise specified. However, students are allowed to use generative AI tools to assist learning in general. Students should note that information generated by these tools may not be accurate.

Any breach of the regulations will be considered an act of academic dishonesty and will be handled according to the University's Procedures for Handling Cases of Academic Dishonesty.

In case of queries, students should seek advice from the course teacher.
