

The Chinese University of Hong Kong
Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages

Overseas Summer Study Programmes of Modern Languages 2026

1. Enrollment Method

- 1.1. The Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages encourages students to enroll in overseas summer study programmes for Modern Languages. For the programmes available in 2026, please refer to the details provided by each individual language programme.
- 1.2. Students must register online for their chosen overseas summer study programmes through the respective institutes' websites and handle payments (e.g., tuition, accommodation) independently as instructed. For inquiries, contact the host universities directly.

2. Financial Support

- 2.1. Students who want to apply for financial sponsorship for overseas summer study programmes recommended by the Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages should submit the online registration form through this website from 1 to 31 March 2026:
<https://cloud.itsc.cuhk.edu.hk/webform/view.php?id=13727658>

The applicant's unofficial transcript from CUSIS is required. Those who submit the form and transcript will be considered for financial support administered by the department.

- Five awards of HK$5,000 each are available for non-final year Linguistics Major students with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0, funded by the Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages.
- Funding support from various consulates is also provided. Details will be confirmed and announced in due course.

Award recipients are selected based on:

- 1) The number of Modern Language courses taken
- 2) The cumulative GPA of Modern Languages courses taken
- 3) The Overall cumulative GPA

- 2.2. Recipients of financial awards will be notified via email, and the sponsorship will be reimbursed after completing their study trips. They must report any other funding from CUHK units to the Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages (see points 2.4 - 2.5). The Department may reclaim the awards for redistribution or reconsider the sponsorship amount. Final year students are eligible for support only if their programme ends by 31 July 2026.

- 2.3. After completing the programmes, award recipients must submit their attendance certificate or academic report, along with original payment receipts for air tickets (if any), tuition, and accommodation fees for reimbursement. They must also provide a written report of 200-300 words in English about their overseas learning experience, along with 10 digital photos from the study trip. The Department of Linguistics and Modern Languages and the award granters may publish and use the reports and photos for promotional materials.
- 2.4. Students can apply for the “Summer Subsistence and Travel Loan Scheme” through the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid (OAFA) for their overseas summer studies. More information is available on the following website:
<http://admission.cuhk.edu.hk/fees-financing-your-studies/financial-aid/major-financial-aid-schemes/>
- 2.5. Some CUHK colleges provide grants and loans for students to join overseas summer study programmes. Students should visit their college websites or contact their college offices for financial support.
- 2.6. To ensure you do not miss the valuable opportunities to utilize your summer for overseas study, please be mindful of the application deadlines for various financial sponsorship schemes.
